What I found in the old internet that people used to think, there were only two genders!

What, only two?

Yeah, "man" and "woman"!

And they had really tight restrictions for these genders too!

I think it was that men had to be quiet and let the women speak.

Men needed to always look pretty and big, but not too big to attack the world.

A woman had to be a leader at work to provide for the family.

Women shouldn't wear skirts for some reason and no make-up either.

I also heard that back then, a doctor would decide your gender for you!

I wonder how that worked?

Yeah! At birth, the doctor would guess the gender of the baby and then the baby had to live as that gender for their entire life!

That's crazy!

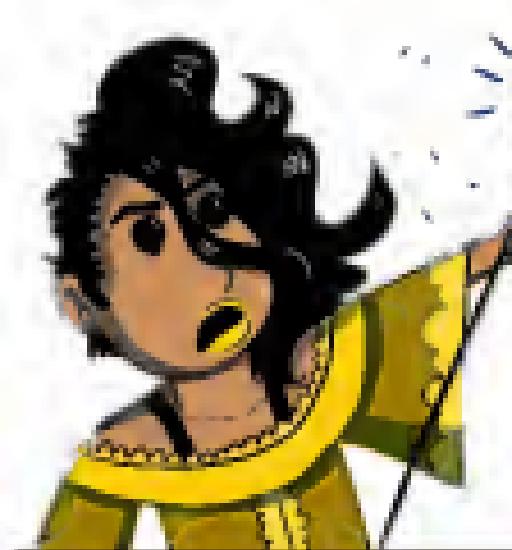

There's no way a baby could tell its gender to you. It hasn't even learned how to speak yet!

Yeah, seems too crazy to be true. Maybe it was just a fad.
